David Collins Reaches New Heights

Interior design for the super luxury Ritz-Carlton Residences at MahaNakhon, soon to be the tallest building in Bangkok, has been inspired by the work of the renowned and award-winning David Collins Studio. Minimalist luxury is the concept and the style focuses on the importance of detail, colour, atmosphere, lighting and comfort.

The apartments are designed as a haven from the busy and exciting city with an elegantly proportioned interior, which captures, in essence, the importance of the most valuable luxury – time and space. Inspired by the grandeur of generations of historic stately Manhattan apartment homes from the time of the Vanderbilts, the Astors and the Whitneys, there will be a strong presence of works by local craftsmen and locally sourced materials such as silk, stone, lacquer, shagreen and leather. Finishes will be customised and given the David Collins twist, bringing historical artisan traditions into the 21st century.

‘Kitchenovations’ by Modernform

Electrolux recently showcased their latest kitchen innovations in the ‘Kitchenovation’ event at the Modernform Srinakarin showroom, Bangkok. The highlight included a cooking demonstration using Electrolux Inspiro Oven and Electrolux Maxima Hob by the super star Nui Sujira Aroonpipat.

The advanced Inspiro oven uses sophisticated technology to simplify cooking. It automatically sets the required cooking time made possible with its unique patented algorithm. The oven also detects the weight of the food to be cooked thanks to its intelligent heat management system. The cooking parameters are automatically adjusted according to the professional recipe database. Cleaning is also easy with the Pyroluxe® cleaning system, the only cleaning method that cleans the entire oven – top, sides, door, light and oven base.

The Maxima electric hob cooking technology makes it faster and more responsive than gas. With a conventional electric hob, the entire cooking zone heats up, this in turn, heats the base of the pan. This induction hob has an electromagnet underneath the ceramic glass, creating a magnet field when a pan is placed on the cooking surface. Induction hobs automatically sense the size of the pan, only heating the base of the pan and its contents, ensuring the surrounding area always remains safe to touch.
